That burst like sulphur into flame; The nose carbuncied, glowing red; The broken eye, the broken head; The tree that bears the deadly fruit Of murder, maiming and dispute; Assault hat innocence assails; The images of gloomy jaile; The giddy thought on mischief bent; The midnight hours in riot spent, All these within this jug appear, And Jack, the hangman, in the rear."

A Good ONE .- A young gentleman, s member of a certain college, was expelled for the crime of drawing young ladies up to his room at night and letting them down in the morning, by means of a rope and a basket arranged from his window. Of course, a great deal of gossiping conversation was the consequence. The following colloquy occurred between two young ladies:

Jane, do you really believe the students draw girls up to their rooms?" " Certainly, my dear; more than that, I know they do.' " How ?"

"Well, I was going by the college one morning, it was just before light; twas very early in the morning; and I heard a noise in the direction of one of the college buildings. I looked that way, and as plain as I see you now, I saw a girl in a basket about half way from a three-story window to the ground; and just then the rope broke, and down I came !" " Oh! Jane!"

Ar Ingenius Device.-A sea captain on a voyage, with thirty passengers, being overtaken by a violent tempest, found it necessary to lighten the vessel. Fifteen of the passengers were Christians, and the other fitteen were unbelievers; but in this exigency, they unanimously agreed to the captain's proposition, that he should place the whole thirty in a circle, and throw every ninth man over, till only fifteen were left. To save the Christians, the captain placed his thirty passengers in this order, viz: four Christians, five Unbelievers, two Christians, one Unbeliever, three Christians, one Unbeliever, one Christian, two Unbelievers, two Christians, three Unbelievers, one Christian, two Unbelievers, two Christians, one Unbeliever. He began to number from the first of the four Christians, thus: ODCO, TETTU, OC, U, CCC, U, C, UU, CC, UUU,

C, UU, CC, U.

WEBSTER'S RULE OF ORATOR-AN IN-TRUCTIVE ANECDOTE. - Daniel Webster, a short time previous to his last public reception in Boston, was traveling from New York to this city by the overland route. When the cars reached Springfield, Mr. Waite, the well-known excellent conductor, stepped into the forward car, and, as usual, announced-" Springfield station-twenty minutes allowed passengers to dine!" Mr. Webster, who was sitting by him, arose, and pleasantly tapping him on the shoulder, remarked-"Young man, that is one of the most interesting speeches I ever heard in my life." "Yes, sir," calmly replied the conductor, "all speeches are good in which the speaker and the hearer heartily sympathize." "Very true," said Mr. Webster, "and I have always noticed that those speeches are always considered best

A GOOD REASON .- "What do you drive such a pitiful-looking carcass as that for? Why don't you put a heavy coat of flesh on him?" "A heavy coat of flesh! By the powers, the poor cratur can hardly sarry what little there is on him."
